

Hull University Students' Union safeguarding and child protection policy

All Child Protection policies should be read in conjunction with the Hull Safeguarding Children Partnership Procedures and Practice Guidance <http://hullscb.proceduresonline.com/>

Hull University Students' Union has a responsibility to protect and safeguard the welfare of children and young people they come into contact with. The need for guidelines and procedures is important to ensure that this is done with understanding and clarity.

The person with lead responsibility for safeguarding within the organisation is:

Gina Rayment Advice Centre Manager g.rayment@hull.ac.uk

The lead for safeguarding has completed additional training to fulfil this role (list training including dates)

- Safeguarding Children – A Shared Responsibility – Awareness, Recognition & Responses – date
- Safeguarding Thresholds Training – date
- Safeguarding Children – A Shared Responsibility – Working Together Effectively – Processes, Principles and Dilemmas – date

All staff and volunteers should be made aware of this policy, and be able to demonstrate an understanding of their responsibilities for safeguarding and promoting the welfare of children, including how to respond to any safeguarding or child protection concerns and how to make a referral to local authority children's social care or the police if necessary. This policy is published on our website www.Hulluniunion.com. All Staff and volunteers who will work with children under 18 years will be made aware of the policy during their induction and training.

LEGISLATION AND STATUTORY GUIDANCE

Section 11 of the Children Act 2004 places duties on a range of organisations, agencies and individuals to ensure their functions, and any services they contract out to others, are discharged having regard to the need to safeguard and promote the welfare of children.

Working Together to Safeguard Children 2018 HM Government is the statutory guidance which underpins the legal requirement.

1. Safeguarding and promoting the welfare of children

The statutory guidance Working Together to safeguard children 2018 describes safeguarding as:

- protecting children from maltreatment;
- preventing impairment of children's health or development;
- ensuring that children are growing up in circumstances consistent with the provision of safe and effective care; and
- taking action to enable all children to have the best life chances.

2. Children

Anyone who has not yet reached their 18th birthday. The fact that a child has reached 16 years of age, is living independently or is in further education, is a member of the armed forces, is in hospital or in custody in the secure estate, does not change their status or entitlements to services or protection.

3. Young carers

Children and young people under 18 who provide or intend to provide care assistance or support to another family member are called young carers. They carry out on a regular basis, significant or substantial caring tasks and assume a level of responsibility, which would usually be associated with an adult. The person receiving care is often a parent but can also be a sibling, grandparent or other relative who is disabled, has some chronic illness, mental health problem or other condition connected with a need for care support or supervision. Young carers can be particularly vulnerable and, under the Children and Families Act (2014) are entitled to an assessment of their own needs by the local authority.

4. Targeted Early Help

Children and their families will require different levels and types of support from agencies at different points in their lives. All children require access to high-quality universal services (such as schools, health visitors, school nurses and early years education), but some will also benefit from extra support to address their assessed needs. In Hull this support is called Targeted Early Help.

“Providing early help is more effective in promoting the welfare of children than reacting later. Early help means providing support as soon as a problem emerges, at any point in a child’s life, from the foundation years through to the teenage years” (Working Together to Safeguard Children 2018).

From the perspective of a child, it is clearly best to receive help before they have any, or have only minor, adverse experiences.

In Hull, the Early Help and Safeguarding Hub (EHaSH) and Locality Early Help hubs offer a range of support for practitioners who need advice, guidance or advice with decision making when working with children and families who require additional support.

All staff and volunteers should understand the importance of intervening early, before any problems become entrenched, and know how to access additional support for children, young people and families through the Locality Early Help Hubs.

The consent of parents / carers (and children depending on their age and understanding) should always be sought before making a request for a service for Targeted Early Help.

If at any time the concerns about the child become more serious, they should be referred to Children's Social Care Early Help and Safeguarding Hub (EHasH) (See Section 7)

5. Child Protection

Part of safeguarding and promoting welfare, this refers to the activity that is undertaken to protect specific children who are suffering, or are likely to suffer, significant harm.

5.a Children who are registered students at the University of Hull

Anyone who has not yet reached their 18th birthday is defined as a child. The fact that a child has reached 16 years of age, is living independently or is in further or higher education, is a member of the armed forces, is in hospital or in custody in the secure estate, does not change their status or entitlements to services or protection.

We are aware that a number of University of Hull students are legally classified as children and we have put in place specific measures to ensure the safeguarding of the individuals. These individuals may not:

- join HUSU clubs and societies
- participate in Give it a Go (GIAG) events (unless specifically created for under 18's or part of a Family GIAG event.)
- undertake volunteering roles through HUSSO
- access any of our licenced establishments for the purpose of purchasing alcohol, and may only access our licenced establishments in accordance with licencing law.

6. Definitions of harm

Abuse

A form of maltreatment of a child. Somebody may abuse or neglect a child by inflicting harm, or by failing to act to prevent harm. Children may be abused in a family or in an institutional or community setting by those known to them or, more rarely, by others. Abuse can take place wholly online, or technology may be used to facilitate offline abuse. Children may be abused by an adult or adults, or another child or children.

Physical abuse

A form of abuse which may involve hitting, shaking, throwing, poisoning, burning or scalding, drowning, suffocating or otherwise causing physical harm to a child. Physical harm may also be caused when a parent or carer fabricates the symptoms of, or deliberately induces, illness in a child.

Emotional abuse

The persistent emotional maltreatment of a child such as to cause severe and persistent adverse effects on the child's emotional development. It may involve conveying to a child that they are worthless or unloved, inadequate, or valued only insofar as they meet the needs of another person. It may include not giving the child opportunities to express their views, deliberately silencing them or 'making fun' of what they say or how they communicate. It may feature age or developmentally inappropriate expectations being imposed on children. These may include interactions that are beyond a child's developmental capability, as well as overprotection and limitation of exploration and learning, or preventing the child participating in normal social interaction. It may involve seeing or hearing the ill-treatment of another. It may involve serious bullying (including online bullying), causing children frequently to feel frightened or in danger, or the exploitation or corruption of children. Some level of emotional abuse is involved in all types of maltreatment of a child, though it may occur alone.

Sexual abuse

Involves forcing or enticing a child or young person to take part in sexual activities, not necessarily involving a high level of violence, whether or not the child is aware of what is happening. The activities may involve physical contact, including assault by penetration (for example, rape or oral sex) or non-penetrative acts such as masturbation, kissing, rubbing and touching outside of clothing. They may also include non-contact activities, such as involving children in looking at, or in the production of, sexual images, watching sexual activities, encouraging children to behave in sexually inappropriate ways, or grooming a child in preparation for abuse. Sexual abuse can take place online, and technology can be used to facilitate offline abuse. Sexual abuse is not solely perpetrated by adult males. Women can also commit acts of sexual abuse, as can other children.

Neglect

The persistent failure to meet a child's basic physical and/or psychological needs, likely to result in the serious impairment of the child's health or development. Neglect may occur during pregnancy as a result of maternal substance abuse. Once a child is born, neglect may involve a parent or carer failing to: provide adequate food, clothing and shelter (including exclusion from home or abandonment); protect a child from physical and emotional harm or danger; ensure adequate supervision (including the use of inadequate care-givers); ensure access to appropriate medical care or treatment. It may also include neglect of, or unresponsiveness to, a child's basic emotional needs.

This is not an exhaustive list and it must be recognised that it is not the role of staff / volunteers to make an assessment of whether children or young people have suffered harm. Staff / volunteers / the safeguarding lead do have a duty to report any concerns about harm in accordance with the Hull Safeguarding Children Partnership, Guidelines and Procedures.

Other specific sources of harm

Staff / volunteers also need to be aware of other specific sources of harm which may include Female Genital Mutilation \(FGM\), Radicalisation and Child Sexual Exploitation \(CSE\). For a more comprehensive list of specific sources of harm, please refer to the practice guidance in Hull

7. Recognition of harm

Everybody working with children and families must be alert to the needs of children and any risks of harm - including to unborn children, babies, older children, young carers, children who are disabled. Practitioners should, in particular, be alert to the potential need for early help for a child who:

- Is living in family circumstances which present challenges for the child, such as drug and alcohol misuse, adult mental health issues and domestic abuse, children who are showing signs of being drawn into anti-social or criminal behaviour, including gang involvement and association with organised crime groups;
- Is misusing drugs and alcohol themselves;
- has with special educational needs,
- are living away from home (including privately fostered children), children who are Looked After by the local authority or have recently returned home to their family from care;
- is frequently missing/goes missing from care or from home;
- is at risk of modern slavery, trafficking or exploitation;
- is t risk of being radicalised or exploited;

All staff and volunteers should be able to recognise, and know how to act upon, evidence that a child's health or development is being is impaired or that the child is suffering, or is likely to suffer significant harm.

The harm or potential harm to a child may come to your attention in a number of possible ways;

- Information given to you by the child, their friends, a family member or close associate.

- changes in the child's behaviour or presentation.
 - An injury which arouses suspicion because;
 - It does not make sense when compared with the explanation given.
 - The explanations differ depending on who is giving them (e.g., differing explanations from the parent / carer and child).
 - The child appears anxious and evasive when asked about the injury;
 - They are a pre mobile baby with bruising.
 - Suspicion being raised when a number of factors occur over time, for example, the child fails to progress and thrive in contrast to their peers.
 - A young person having contact with an individual or individuals who have been identified as presenting a risk or potential risk of harm to children.
 - The parent's behaviour before the birth of a child may indicate the likelihood of significant harm to an unborn child, for example substance misuse, or, previous children removed from their carers.
 - A child who is not brought to appointments, particularly medical appointments

8. Acting on concerns

No practitioner should assume that someone else will pass on information which they think may be critical to keeping a child safe. If a practitioner has concerns about a child's welfare and believes they are suffering or likely to suffer harm, then they have a responsibility to share the information with local authority children's social care (via the Early Help and Safeguarding Hub). (For more information about information sharing and effective communication see appendices 1 and 2)

Seeking Medical Attention

If a child has been harmed/ is unwell or has suffered a physical injury, and is in need of immediate medical attention this should be sought without delay by telephoning for an ambulance, attending the Emergency Department or Minor Injury Unit (depending on the severity of the injury). The procedures for referring a child to Children's Social Care should then be followed.

Any safeguarding concerns should be shared with the paramedics / medical and nursing staff in order that they can appropriately assess and treat the child, and share relevant information.

Contacting emergency services for urgent medical treatment must not be delayed for any reason.

If it suspected that the child is suffering from neglect, physical or sexual abuse and the child does not require immediate medical attention the procedures for referring a child to Children's Social Care and/ or the police should be followed. If a medical examination under section 47 is being considered staff should follow the guideline for Child Protection Enquiries- section 47 Children Act 1989. Medicals are arranged directly with the Anlaby Suite, Hull Royal Infirmary by Children's Social Care and/or police.

Managing a disclosure

- Listen to what the child has to say with an open mind.
- Do not ask probing or leading questions designed to get the child to reveal more.
- Never stop a child who is freely recalling significant events.
- Make note of the discussion, taking care to record the timing, setting and people present, as well as what was said.
- Do not ask children to write a statement.

- Never promise the child that what they have told you can be kept secret. Explain that you have responsibility to report what the child has said to someone else.
 - The designated lead for safeguarding within your organisation must be informed immediately.

See also One Minute Guide to Responding Effectively to Disclosures from and about Children, Young People and Adults

9. Referring concerns about a child

The designated safeguarding lead will act on behalf of the (GROUP / ORGANISATION) in referring concerns or allegations of harm to the local authority Early Help and Safeguarding Hub (EHaSH) or the Protecting Vulnerable People Unit. In the case of it being out of hours the Immediate Help Team should be contacted.

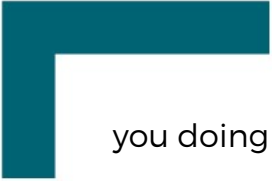

If the designated safeguarding lead is in any doubt about making a referral it is important to remember that advice can be sought from the Early Help and Safeguarding Hub. The name of the child and family should be kept confidential at this stage and will be requested if the enquiry proceeds to a referral.

It is not the role of the designated safeguarding lead to undertake an investigation into the concerns or allegation of harm. It is the role of the designated safeguarding lead to collate and clarify details of the concern or allegation and to provide this information to the Early Help and Safeguarding Hub, or Locality Team if Children's Social Care is already involved, whose duty it is to make enquiries in accordance with Section 47 of the Children Act 1989.

Consent

Issues of consent should always be considered.

Before making a referral, parents/carers must be informed that you are making contact with Children's Social Care – including the reasons for you doing this – and be asked to give consent to the referral being made

.This includes protecting a child from Significant Harm.

There are circumstances when it may appropriate to dispense with the requirement to obtain consent to share information; this includes when :

- Discussion with the parents/ carers could place the child or other family members at risk ;
- The child is in immediate danger (e.g. requires medical attention)
- Discussion with parents / carers may place you or another member of staff at risk

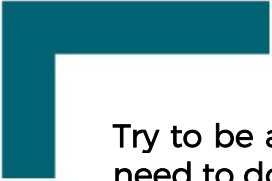

It should be noted that when parents, carers or child may not agree to information being shared, but this does not prevent practitioners from being able to make a referral where safeguarding or child protection concerns persist. When sharing information without consent it is important to record why any such decision has been made.

Fears about sharing information MUST NOT BE ALLOWED to stand in the way of the need to promote the welfare, and protect the safety of children, which must always be the paramount concern (Working Together 2018)

Preparing to Discuss Concerns about a Child with Children's Social Care

Try to clarify in your mind why you are worried, is it based on:

- What you have seen;
- What you have heard from others;
- What has been said to you directly.

Try to be as clear as you can about why you are worried and what you need to do next:

- This is what I have done;
- What more do I need to do?
- Are there any other children in the family?
- Is the child in immediate danger?

In the conversation that takes place the duty Social Worker will seek to clarify:

- The nature of the concerns;
- How and why they have arisen;
- What appear to be the needs of the child and family; and
- What involvement they are having or have had with the child and / or family.

Questions Children's Social Care may ask at Initial Contact

- Agency (i.e. school, etc) address and contact details of referrer;
- Has consent to make the referral been gained? Information regarding parents' knowledge and views on the referral;
- Where consent has not been sought prior to making a referral you will be asked to explain what informed your decision making;
- Where consent has been sought but refused and safeguarding or child protection concerns persist you will be asked what informed your decision making ;
- Full names, dates of birth and gender of children;
- Family address and, where relevant, school/nursery attended;
- Previous addresses;
- Identity of those with Parental Responsibility;
- Names and dates of birth of all members of the household;

- Ethnicity, first language and religion of children and parents;
 - Any special needs of the children or of the parents and carers;
 - Any significant recent or past events;
 - Cause for concern including details of allegations, their sources, timing and location;
 - The child's' current location and emotional and physical condition;
 - Whether the child needs immediate protection;
 - Details of any alleged perpetrator (name, date of birth, address, contact with other children);
 - Referrer's relationship with and knowledge of the child and his or her family;
 - Known involvement of other agencies;
 - Details of any significant others;
 - Gain consent for further information sharing / seeking;
 - The referrer should be asked specifically if they hold any information about difficulties being experienced by the family/household due to domestic abuse, mental illness, substance misuse and/or learning difficulties.

Other information may be relevant and some information may not be available at the time of making contact. REMEMBER - the collation of additional information should not result in a delay in making a referral.

The Early Help and Safeguarding Hub (EHaSH) Contact and Referral Form

All telephone referrals made by practitioners should be followed, within 48 hours by a written referral giving specific and detailed information. A template Contact and Referral Form has been developed for this purpose.

If you have secure email the form should be sent to the Early Help and Safeguarding Hub

Children's Social Care Action following a Referral

Children's Social Care should acknowledge a written referral within 1 working day of receiving it. If the referrer has not received an acknowledgement within 5 working days, they should contact Children's Social Care again.

10. Allegations against staff members / volunteers

If any member of staff or volunteer has concerns about the behaviour or conduct of another individual working within the group or organisation such as:

- Behaved in a way that has harmed, or may have harmed a child;

- Possibly committed a criminal offence against, or related to, a child or
 - Behaved towards a child or children in a way that indicates they are unsuitable to work with children. This could include children within the employee's workplace or outside of it, including their own children.

The nature of the allegation or concern should be reported to the Designated Officer for dealing with allegations within your organisation immediately.

The member of staff who has a concern or to whom an allegation or concern is reported should not question the child or investigate the matter further.

The Designated Officer for your organisation will report the matter to the Local Authority Designated Officer (LADO) within 1 working day.

Allegations against staff in their personal lives or which occur in the community

If an allegation or concern arises about a member of staff, outside of their work with children, and this may present a risk of harm to child/ren for whom the member of staff is responsible, the general principles outlined in this policy will still apply.

If the member of staff lives in a different authority area to that which covers their workplace, liaison should take place between the relevant agencies in both areas and a joint Strategy Meeting / Discussion or Professional's Meeting should be held.

In some cases, an allegation of abuse against someone closely associated with a member of staff (e.g. partner, member of the family or other household member) may present a risk of harm to child/ren for whom the member of staff is responsible. In these circumstances, a Strategy or Professional's Meeting / Discussion should be held to consider:

- The ability and/or willingness of the member of staff to adequately protect the child/ren;

- Whether measures need to be put in place to ensure their protection;
 - Whether the employment role of the member of staff is compromised.

11. Recruitment and selection

When recruiting paid staff and volunteers it is important to always follow the processes set out in the organisation's safer recruitment policy. This will ensure potential staff and volunteers are screened for their suitability to work with children and young people.

The Disclosure and Barring Service (DBS) helps employers make safer recruitment decisions and prevents unsuitable people from working with vulnerable groups, including children.

<https://www.gov.uk/government/organisations/disclosure-and-barring-service/about>

A person who is barred from working with children or vulnerable adults will be breaking the law if they work or volunteer, or try to work or volunteer with those groups. If Hull University Students' Union knowingly employs someone who is barred to work with those groups they will also be breaking the law. If there is an incident where a member of staff or volunteer has to be dismissed because they have harmed a child or vulnerable adult, or would have been if they had not left, Hull University Students' Union will notify the DBS. The organisation must make a referral to the Disclosure and Barring Service to consider whether to add the individual to the barred list. This applies irrespective of whether a referral has been made to local authority children's social care and/or the designated officer or team of officers. It is an offence to fail to make a referral without good reason.

Seven Golden rules of information sharing

Information sharing- Advice for practitioners providing safeguarding services to children, young people, parents and carers (Department for Education, 2018) has been produced to support practitioners in the decisions they take when sharing information to reduce the risk of harm to children and young people.

Below are the 7 golden rules of information sharing that this guidance recommends.

1. Remember that the General Data Protection Regulation (GDPR), Data Protection Act 2018 and human rights law are not barriers to justified information sharing, but provide a framework to ensure that personal information about living individuals is shared appropriately.
2. Be open and honest with the individual (and/or their family where appropriate) from the outset about why, what, how and with whom information will, or could be shared, and seek their agreement, unless it is unsafe or inappropriate to do so.
3. Seek advice from other practitioners, or your information governance lead, if you are in any doubt about sharing the information concerned, without disclosing the identity of the individual where possible.
4. Where possible, share information with consent, and where possible, respect the wishes of those who do not consent to having their information shared. Under the GDPR and Data Protection Act 2018 you may share information without consent if, in your judgement, there is a lawful basis to do so, such as where safety may be at risk. You will need to base your judgement on the facts of the case. When you are sharing or requesting personal information from someone, be clear of the basis upon which you are doing so. Where you do not have consent, be mindful that an individual might not expect information to be shared.
5. Consider safety and well-being: base your information sharing decisions on considerations of the safety and well-being of the individual and others who may be affected by their actions.
6. Necessary, proportionate, relevant, adequate, accurate, timely and secure: ensure that the information you share is necessary for the purpose for which you are sharing it, is shared only with those individuals who need to have it, is accurate and up-to-date, is shared in a timely fashion, and is shared securely.
7. Keep a record of your decision and the reasons for it – whether it is to share information or not. If you decide to share, then record what you have shared, with whom and for what purpose.

Appendix 2 - Considerations when Contacting another Agency/Service

1) Effective Communication between Agencies

Effective communication requires a culture of listening to and engaging in, dialogue within and across agencies. It is essential that all communication is as accurate and complete as possible and clearly recorded.

Accuracy is key; without it effective decisions cannot be made. Equally, inaccurate accounts can lead to children remaining unsafe, or to the possibility of wrongful actions being taken that affect children and adults

Before contacting another agency, think about why you are doing it, is it to:

- Share Information

To share information is the term used to describe the situation where practitioners use their professional judgement and experience on a case by case basis to decide whether and what personal information to share with other practitioners in order to meet the needs of a child or young person.

Decisions to request and share information must be considered in terms of whether they are necessary and proportionate.

- Signpost to Another Service

The definition to signpost is to indicate direction towards. It is an informal process whereby a practitioner or a family is shown in the direction of a service.

If someone is signposted to a service it is because accessing the service may enhance the family's quality of life, but there would be no increased risk to the child or young person should the service not be accessed.

No agency is responsible for the monitoring or recording of signposting.

- Seek Advice and Guidance

Seeking advice and guidance at any time, making a general query or perhaps consulting with a specialist colleague within your own organisation (or from another agency) may enhance the work that you are doing with a child, young person or family at any stage. It could be that you want further information about services available or that you want some specialist advice or perhaps need to consult about a particular issue or query for instance to ask if making a referral is appropriate.

The name of the child and family should be anonymised at this stage unless agreement to share the information has already been obtained.

It is vital that you record that you have sought information and advice in your own records. The agency you are contacting may not record this information, particularly if the case is not open or active with them. It should be agreed between agencies in this situation as to who records what information.

At the end of the conversation both parties must be clear about the next course of action.

- Facilitate Access to a Service

If you think that a family may benefit from a service then directing, signposting or facilitating is appropriate. For example, a family approaches your service and asks for some advice about leisure activities in the local area. You give them the information and directions to the nearest open access leisure centre.

- Refer a Child or Family

If you think that by not accessing a particular service, a child's situation could deteriorate then a referral is appropriate. However, a referral is only the start of the process. You as the referrer have a responsibility to monitor that the service has been taken up and the child's situation has improved.

Sometimes you may need to draw on other support services, for example when an intervention has not achieved the desired outcomes and the child/young person requires more specialist or sustained support.

A specific gap in services to meet a need or any level of concern warrants follow up and monitoring to ensure there is no risk to children.

At the end of the conversation both parties must be clear about the outcome and the next course of action.

2) Professional Differences

Where there are any professional differences about a particular decision, course of action or lack of action you should consult with a Senior Manager within your own organisation about next steps. Resolving Interagency Disagreements Guidance

3) Recording

Well kept records about work with a child and his or her family provide an essential underpinning to good professional practice. Records should be clear, accessible and comprehensive, with judgements made and decisions and interventions carefully recorded. Where decisions have been taken jointly across agencies, or endorsed by a manager, this should be made clear.

You should record your decision and the reasons for it, whether or not you decide to share information. If the decision is to share, you should record what information was shared and with whom.

You should work within your agency's arrangements for recording information and within any local information sharing procedures in place. These arrangements and procedures must be in accordance with the Data Protection Act 2018 and the General Data Protection Regulations (GDPR)
